1. Crude oil is daily being moved from Ploesti to the Russian port of Reni, eight kilometers from Galati, through a pipeline which is mostly underground.
2. The crude oil is processed in a large refinery that was constructed three years ago in Reni by the Russians.
3. After the oil is refined it is stored in tanks, each of which has a capacity of 100 tons. These tanks have been erected along the railroad that runs nearby.
4. The refinery produces gasoline, kerosene, motor oil, and vaseline.
